'Apologize to Murphy,' board orders Bates

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Valley supervisor John Murphy got the near unanimous support of his fellow board members yesterday when they voted 3-1 to have north county supervisor Tom Bates make a public apology to the senior supervisor.

Bates voted against the measure. Murphy is on vacation in Japan.

Last December Bates, the 12th Assembly District candidate asked for an Alameda County Grand Jury investigation into the near purchase of a 56-acre hilltop site in Pleasanton for the proposed East County Government Center.

He also released copies of the letter to the press and held a Saturday afternoon press conference to explain his position.

Hayward supervisor Charles Santana's motion brought the board room to an ominous silence when he said he had been "thinking about it for quite awhile," and decided to ask fellow board members for a de facto vote of censure against Bates.

"I'll second the motion on the basis of the problems this has made for board activities," said chairman Fred Cooper.

Bates, who had been forewarned of Santana's motion, at first defended his release, saying "I didn't explicitly name Mr. Murphy. He qualified himself with the conflict of interest and withdrew from the vote."

"Come on, Tom," Cooper shot back impatiently, "that letter talks about the conflict of interest and everything else and names only Murphy."

Bates said he raised a number of questions, "mainly about the department public works department. The Grand Jury is still in the process of investigating these allegations.

"I'm sorry I may have caused some hardship, particularly on his family. But that's a problem of holding public office," he added.

"It's inappropriate to send copies of the letter to the press, Tom" Cooper shot back patronizingly.

"That's exactly how I feel," Santana interjected. "A letter to the grand jury would have been sufficient."

The letter was sent to the Grand Jury, Bates answered, and "picked up by the press." Bates' letter is a well written, two-page thrust and three page addendum that never specifically "alleges" or "charges" Murphy with anything.

Bates does say his "primary concern is with the quality of the staff work available to the Board of Supervisors," but in an earlier paragraph says "I have ... considered the ramifications carefully. I realize that the outcome of this reflects on the integrity of government, and potentially on the integrity of my colleagues."

In his Saturday press conference he said "Murphy's role is clear" as he delineated the step by step process that almost led to the $468,000 purchase of land the county has assersed at $110,000.

But Bates' intentions seemed equally clear to the press, especially the Oakland Tribune, to whom he passed the letter two days before the press conference.

Hedging and dodging and changing his explanation as first Santana and then Cooper hammered away at him did nothing to enhance his image with fellow board members or the audience.

"As an elected official representing the Fifth District, I'm not going to issue a public apology," he said after the vnte.

"It doesn't matter what the board motion says. Let the voters take their course of action if they want."

"I wish the subject had never been brought up," Castro Valley supervisor Joseph Bort said philosophically, calling release of the letter "out of order."

Santana was strangely silent during most of the discussion, his fiery temper at one point kept under check by Bort.

"Okay. Okay," he said to Bort when for a moment the Hayward supervisor started to argue with Bates.

Bates said after the meeting that he did feel sorry for any embarrassment that might have been caused Murphy, "especially his family."

"But my kids caught hell when I voted against the Youthful Violent Offenders Act. That's the price you pay for public office."

Del Valle campground opens

The Bay Area's newest, most glamorous campground is in the Valley's backyard — at Del Valle Regional Park just south of Livermore. Live oaks and digger pines tower over grassy campsites that feature picnic tables and barbecue pits. There are even flush toilets and showers in the gleaming new facilities. The first 64 sites open, with 100 more to open soon. Rates are $5 per night which includes the $1.50 park-use fee. (Times photo)

Constitutional case of year?

Tull challenges Zone 7

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Paul Tull, Livermore's firebrand gadfly of city politics, may have the county's Constitutional case of the year on his hands in his attempt to win a spot on the June 8, Zone 7 ballot.

His petition to the board of supervisors to get a "variance" to a water district requirement that candidates own real property in order to run for office was turned down yesterday.

The law, it turns out, was written by the State Legislature and the supervisors do not have the authority to grant variances or waive requirements.

Tull claims property ownership is an unconstitutional violation of "at least" the 14th Amendment.

"We can't waive a legal requirement. Only a superior court judge can," board chairman Fred Cooper told him. "You'll have to get yourself a lawyer."

The 58-year-old medically retired historian for the American Taxpayers Union, who rents his Livermore residence, says he can't afford a private attorney.

He tried the district attorney's office on the grounds the law "is criminal in denying my rights to me."

With no luck there, he's headed for Common Cause, perhaps the Legal Aid Society — although he has less than an amenable working relationship with them — and, "as a last resort," the American Civil Liberties Union.

But he's got to get the legal help and a judge's favorable ruling before this Friday, he told the supervisors.

Property ownership as a criterion for voting or holding office was once hotly debated in the foundling American Republic.

Benjamin Franklin is said to have argued that if a man who owned an ass came to town, the man could vote.

But if the same man came in at the next election without the ass, he could not vote.

"Now who voted, the man or the ass?," he is reported to have asked.

Tull, whose Zone 7 platform calls for unflouridated water and "fiscal responsibility to the voters," says the Legislature in 1960 passed a bill paving the way for creation of water districts, but that it did not contain provisions for property ownership as a condition of candidacy.

It was amended "sometime in the later 60's," he said, and the clause inserted.

Zone 7 at first flippantly put off the problem in the belief the county's legal staff could waive the requirement.

But county counsel Richard Moore said that is impossible. "It's written into the State law. Only the Legislature can amend it."

A judge, of course, could find it violates a citizen's constitutional right to equal treatment under the law.

"No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States," the amendment reads, "nor shall any State deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

New sewer hook-ups near?

PLEASANTON — The city council gave its official stamp of approval to a staff recommendation for 291 more sewer connections in the Sunol Boulevard sewage treatment plant Monday night.

The request for the 291 connections will go to the Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board April 20. The request was slated to come to the water board yesterday, but the water board staff asked for postponement at the last minute to check more details about Pleasanton's application.

The city council vote was 4-1 with Frank Brandes dissenting. He opposed the motion because the council would not attach a statement about the timing of connections.

Brandes argued for approximately 200 connections, the number needed to satisfy current claims from developers who have filed suits against the city, and he wanted those timed at approximately 70 per year.

Explaining his vote yesterday to the The Times, he said that "too rapid" addition of sewer connections to the Sunol plant might upset the delicate balance of odor control there. Violation of the water quality board's odor control standards could bring another cease and desist order from the board, perhaps preventing further connections which might turn out to be commercial and industrial hookups, said Brandes.

Brandes said Monday night the city council should go on record as favoring a two percent growth rate, but he didn't have any takers. He did get some comments, though, from City Attorney Ken Scheidig.

Scheidig said that ever since the United States Supreme Court upheld the Petaluma growth control ordinance, people have had the mistaken assumption that a city could set any growth rate it would like. The growth rate must be justified by the city's capital improvment plans, the need and desirability of "filling in" the blank spaces near existing streets and utility lines, and other such factors or a growth rate won't stand up in court, said Scheidig.

The city will spend the next year developing its growth management plan and after that the city can determine the growth rate, Scheidig said.

The current game plan for the Sunol plant, according to City Manager Bill Edgar, is to add the 291 connections, bringing the average daily flow through the plant to slightly more than 1.5 million gallons per day (mgd). After that, if the city council decides to expand to the plant's full hydraulic capacity of 1.7 mgd, the city could add an average of 143 connections per year for the following five years. Presumably after five years the old plant would be phased out to the expanded Valley Community Services District plant.

A portion of the 143 units connections per year mentioned by Edgar would be reserved for commercial and industrial growth. The portion has not been determined yet by the council.

New school awaits Murray Board study

Just where the Murray School District will turn in its continuing quest to build a new school must await board study and action.

As a result of the State Allocations Board's denial of an application for funding in the amount of $425,000 Monday in Sacramento, the district finds itself in the position of having a cleared-away school site (Dolan site in Silvergate section of Dublin) and no immediate means of starting construction.

Phillip Chubb, business manager for the district, told The Times Tuesday it would be up to the board to decide if keeping the $1 million bond issue on the June 8 ballot would keep the door open to the state eventually funding the $3 million-plus project.

He said that one of the State Allocation Board members had idly remarked that the district might consider working through a legislative representative to sponsor a bill to bolster the district's alleged construction money ills.

The board's decision, according to Chubb and assistant superintendent Heinz Gewing, was based primarily on the district's dwindling enrollment and defeat of the bond issue by a substantial margin earlier this month. It is estimated the district will drop almost 100 students, from 5,385, when enrollments are added-up this September.

The district has been declining in enrollment since at least the outset of 1973.

Yet planning for another school has been on the boards since prior to '73.

Giving testimony Monday were Gewing and district architect James Aitken.

Hearing of Murray's application lasted almost 30 minutes but Chubb indicated the outcome seemed to be cast before the Murray bid ever came up. "The issue turned on the bond election," Chubb opined.

Sewer agreement upheld

PLEASANTON — The 1972 sewer agreement, whose name is invoked in local politics almost as much as motherhood and the flag, appears safe from the latest onslaught against it.

Judge Robert Bostick notified attorney Alan Grossman yesterday that he is ruling against Grossman's attack on the sewer agreement.

Grossman contested the sewer agreement on behalf of his clients, Doctors Edward Schlies and Donald Clementson, claiming that the large developers who signed the agreement on behalf of all valley developers did not take pains to notify small developers of the settlement.

Judge Bostick ruled that the settlement was decided in 1972 and no one can attack it today. Grossman has 60 days to appeal Bostick's ruling to a higher court, but he won't do it. He doesn't think it is worth the hassle for 11 sewer connections.

Other attorneys representing clients who have more sewer connections at stake have talked about picking up Grossman's brief and appealing to the appellate court on behalf of their clients, said Grossman.

Planners OK move

PLEASANTON — Pleasanton Glass won approval from the planning commission to move to an old house on First Street last week.

The firm currently is housed in the old Southern Pacific depot. After the glass company vacates the depot, the railroad will look for a new tenant. The SP would like to find a restaurant as a tenant, similar to the restaurants in the Livermore and Walnut Creek depots.

Third run approved

Good Times will roll!

PLEASANTON — Let the Good Times Roll!

And let Sunday, May 23 at 1 p.m. in this parade-happy city be the time and place.

By four-fifths acclamation in council chamber and unanimous accord in the stylish grand room of the Pleasanton Hotel, the Good Times Parade has been signed and sealed for its third "run" through the streets of this city.

Parade backers gathered at the hotel Monday evening to await the outcome of the council decision and then toast the "Good Times."

Film of last year's spectacular, which drew upwards of 50,000 here, was shown to an assemblage of community leaders, KNBR Radio executives and the press.

Parade entries will be limited to 225. Bands, novelty groups, precision marching units are all invited to enter. Applications will be accepted through April 14. Interested individuals and groups should contact Isabelle Lemon, parade entries coordinator, KNBR, Grosvenor Plaza, San Francisco 91402.

No political organizations hopeful of wangling their way into the paradd need apply!

Nor will distribution of such literature be permitted.

There are no plans at present for satellite events such as have taken place the past two years. However, if a sponsor comes forward and receives city and/or fairgrounds approval, additional events could be scheduled — such as a hot air balloon ascension, picnic and variety show as held in 1974.

"The result of what we do is pretty much determined by our listeners," stated Ms. Lemon, who handled entries for last year's parade.

Still to be worked out are formation area, line of march, dispersal area and order of march. On the latter point, Ms. Lemon said that all groups accepted would receive their "marching orders" by May 3.

Almost certain to be a part of the parade are the radio station's phalanx of "personalities" headed by Mike Cleary and Frank Dill. The two are largely responsible for bringing the parade to Pleasanton as the result of a little wager the two allegedly had.

Others expected to ride in the parade are Carter B. Smith, sports man Scotty Stirling, new program director Allan Hotlen and possibly Bill Dwyer, the station manager.

Chamber of Commerce and Jaycee personnel will be assisting with organizational plans in the weeks to come.

The grand daddy of all parades will follow the Good Times parade on Sunday, June 27. Now directed by the Pleasanton Bicentennial Festival Committee, it will serve as a prelude to the 1976 County Fair.

Hook-ups upset residents

PLEASANTON — The Chamber of Commerce representative appeared happy Monday night about the city council's handling of the proposal for 291 more sewer connections to the Sunol Boulevard treatment plant.

But homeowners in Mission Park, which was bombarded by sewer plant odors until a year or two ago, were less enthusiastic about the city council's performance Monday night.

Jack Bras addressed the council on behalf of the chamber's industrial sewer committee. He hoped that the council would try to reserve a good number of the 291 connections for commercial and industrial.

Council members spoke highly of the idea, but warned they are limited in their allocations to some degree by lawsuits from home developers. The general impression was that the council will try to allocate more than the 11 commercial connections previously suggested.

Chuck Seymour, a spokesperson in the Mission Park delegation, said yesterday that the city council's action on the 291 connections was "discouraging."

Seymour wanted a slow phase - in of the 291 connections and liked what Councilman Frank Brandes said about breaking the allocation into about 70 connections a year. But the other council members didn't say anything about phasing and that was one of the things which disappointed Seymour.

The other disappointment was the council's apparent lack of response about two issues: when will the council cut off sewer connections and what happens if the county fair expands over the next four or five years, said Seymour.

"I don't think they can add 145 connections per year and also hold the county fair," said Seymour. He was referring to City Manager Bill Edgar's statement that the city can add the 291 connections plus 143 per year for the next five years, bringing to the total to 1.7 mgd, the sewer plant's hydraulic capacity.

Assistant City Manager Alan Campbell had an answer for Seymour's question yesterday. He told The Times that the county fair's two weeks are a peak use of the plant and can be handled even if the plant reaches its maximum of 1.7 mgd average daily flow.

"Of course, we want to go slow and be sure that's correct," said Campbell. The city intends to phase the additions beyond the 291 connections, said Campbell. It may be possible to phase some of the 291, too, though at least 107 of them are the subject of a lawsuit and may not be subject to phasing without the developer's consent, said Campbell.

The 107 connections belong to Morrison Homes, which has an additional 160 connections promised, but those don't seem likely to develop for quite some time, said Campbell.

The city arrived at its request for 291 connections by surveying all development likely to occur soon. Besides Morrison's 107 connections, the list includes 88 single family homes from Harry Elliott, 18 scattered single family sites around the city's south side, 11 commercial connections, 59 approved multiples (at the single family home connection equivalent) 3.3 approved industrial and five connections on the San Francisco leased land.

City Manager Bill Edgar emphasized that these connections are not a priority list. They merely were a list of probable developments and gave the city staff the basis for determining how many connections the city should seek from the Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board.

Membership drive opens

PLEASANTON — A drive that would convince "at least seven out of ten business people in this community that they would profit from membership in the Chamber of Commerce" got underway this week.

Mike Harris outlined the campaign he will head up, with the assistance of nine "area captains." Their goal is 70 new chamber members by the end of April.

"The chamber is essential not just to the business sector, but to the entire community," Harris said in setting the theme for this 1976 membership drive. A wide range of community - action programs were listed as having been "initiated by or actively supported by the chamber."

In a related move, chamber president Merle Telford said he will study a proposal that calls for "using the chamber's weekly forum and its promotional abilities to allow other sectors of the community to speak out." These might include homeowner associations, junior sports leagues "or any action group that has a story to tell, or a campaign that needs support."

Working with Harris on the membership drive are Jim Walbolt, Nancy Elsnab, Virginia Irlam, Larry Lindsay, Gracedaryl Dickinson, Dick Humphries, Mike Hemp, Joyce Getty and Don Perry.

One project that the chamber founded but that "will have to support itself from now on" is the Good Times Parade first brought to Pleasanton by KNBR Radio three years ago. Telford explained that the chamber's chief involvement in the 1976 renewal of that parade will be "to see how this organization might profit" from the 20,000 or more visitors who gather in the downtown area for that festivity in May.

Raymond heads June election ballot

Valerie Raymond's name will lead the list of candidates for First District Supervisor on the June 8 election ballot as a result of a randomized alphabet drawn by the Secretary of State in Sacramento on Monday.

Candidates will appear by last name on the Primary Election ballot by the following order: T, R, G, Z, U, K, E, I, A, C, W, O, P, X, J, Y, F, S, N, M, Q, H, V, B, L, D.

The practice was instituted to minimize advantage given to candidates whose names appear high in the standard alphabet.

According to political folklore, a candidate appearing on the top of the list will receive 10 to 15 per cent more votes, and a candidate appearing last on the list will receive 5 to 10 per cent more votes than they would have if their names appeared in the middle of the list.

As a result of the draw, Raymond will appear first on the ballot.

She will be followed by Rob Alves, Sally Saint, incumbent John Murphy and Irene Vincent.

In the Zone 7 board of directors race, Paul Tull will appear first on the ballot.

Kinney denies he approved New Town

PLEASANTON — Denying he had ever supported Harlan Geldermann's New Town, Zone 7 board of directors candidate Ed Kinney yesterday vowed he would make sure the zone honors its current water contracts with valley agencies before supplying water to new development.

"I want to refute statements by Don Miller and others," said Kinney, "and make it clear that I have never — on an agency, body, or personally — voted one way or the other on Gelderville."

He referred to a statement last week by zone candidate Miller that Kinney "has supported Gelderville, a project which would use up the improved water supply for Livermore, Pleasanton and VCSD."

New Town is a community planned by Harlan Geldermann, a Danville realtor, to be located in the Las Positas Valley, north of the City of Livermore.

New Town's projected population is 45,000. Fifteen thousand dwelling units are planned.

"Miller can't put me into a category on Gelderville," said Kinney, "because I have never reviewed the matter."

Kinney said it was his intention, if elected, to see that "Zone 7 complies with its water contracts with valley agencies to supply the water needed."

"Any development would be put under scrutiny regarding the effect it would have on the existing quality of water, and on the quality of water the cities hope to receive," said Kinney.

The former Pleasanton mayor said he viewed the 20 per cent increase in water rates charged by Zone 7 as "part of the natural process of everything going up."

He said he would like to see city water rates put on annual negotiation. Zone 7 is the water wholesaler to Pleasanton, Livermore, and VCSD. Water contracts currently are renegotiated every five years.

Contrary to current opinion, Kinney said he has "definitely decided not to form a slate with other zone candidates."

"I think independent thinking is a necessity in a campaign," he said.

"I don't deny that I share similar goals with Gib Marguth and Tom Schweser," Kinney said, "but I don't think forming a slate is a desirable tactic."

Kinney said Ron Hyde, president of Valley Community Services District, is his campaign manager. Hyde is also a delegate to the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency and the Bay Area Sewage Services Agency.

Keith Fraser, a prominent Livermore attorney, is Kinney's area chairman.

Kinney said he would run a valley - wide campaign, not limiting his activities to Pleasanton where he feels his support is already strong.

City clerk ready for candidates

LIVERMORE — Citizens interested in serving on the planning commission should apply with City Clerk Dorothy Hock by 5 p.m. Monday, April 5. Interviews with candidates by the council will be held starting at 6:30 p.m. Monday, April 12.

The appointment to the commission, which will be made by the council, is to fill the remaining two years of Glen Dahlbacka's term. Dahlbacka's resignation from the commission was accepted by the council Monday night. He was elected to the council in the March 2 elections.

Under a new state law, both the interviews with the candidates and discussion among council members regarding the appointment will be made in public. Previously, such business and appointments were conducted behind closed doors.

To date, local realtor Rich Buckley, who made an unsuccessful bid for the council during the March election, and Beautification Committee member Raymond Brice have informed the city clerk of their interest in serving on the commission.

Applications also are being received until the April 5 deadline for 15 appointments to the newly - created Energy Committee and 3 appointments to the Housing Authority. Of the Housing Authority appointments one must be a Leahy Square resident of any age and one must be a Leahy Square resident 62 years or older.

Applications should be submitted to Miss Hock at City Hall, 2250 First St., 447-2100.

Harvest Park's annual musical

'Hats Off' debuts Thursday

PLEASANTON— "Hats Off," Harvest Park School's annual musical production, debuts Thursday night at the Amador Valley High School auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

A second performance is scheduled Friday at 7:30. Tickets will be sold at the door and will also be available from Harvest Park School students.

The production features a double cast, as it has for the past five years, which is designed to give more students the opportunity to act in a play.

The operetta "Hats Off" is the story of an incident in the life of John Paul Jones. The major characters can be found in history books, and the villain in the story was a naval commander of French origin.

Student director Mary Frapwell is a sophomore at Amador Valley High School. She was at one time a participant in just such a musical at Harvest Park.

Other Amador students who have returned to help with the production are David Richer, Christi Schumacher, and Sandy Gilpatrick. Parents are helping in scenery construction and in making the costumes.

Ray Gerloff will direct the orchestra while Linda Peterson will accompany on the piano. Dances have been taught by several teachers at the Valley Avenue school. This musical features eight different kinds of dances, in addition to choral and instrumental numbers.

The role of John Paul Jones will be performed by David Peterson, on Thursday night, and by Frank Long on Friday night.

Other roles will be filled by Anders Plett, Jeff Smutny, Melinda Maxvell, Natalie Partridge, Julie Swanson, Lori Driscoll, Marianne Griswold, Valerie Kent, Jim Cormier, Steve Wiedel, John Bird, Andy Bota, Kara Herrmann, Janine Smith, Shirley Nichols, Gail Wilson, Michelle Smith, Sharon Gray, Hilary VanDyke, Wendy Lowell, Eric Plett, Roger Andersen, plus many dancers and singers.

Much of the art work for the scenery was done by 15 sixth grade students in Ablerta Hill's classroom music class. Rehearsals have been after school, and again at night, with students returning in the evening hours to learn the many dances.

Callie Heinbaugh has worked with students on makeup techniques.

Murray flea mart set for April 10

DUBLIN— Arrangements can now be made to rent one or more spaces for the Murray PTA's Fourth Annual Flea Market scheduled for Saturday, April 10 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the school field.

Applications are available in the school office or from Ron Clawson, 829-0159, or Raul Ramirez, 828-1992.

Because it is Murray's fund raiser of the year, this flea market will enable the PTA to make significant contributions to the school's Language Arts Center, library, math center and gymnastics program.

Leading ticket sellers at Murray were Linda Mack, who was awarded $100 for selling 305 tickets, and Bobby Abbey, who received a $25 savings bond for selling 181 tickets.

Next meeting of the Murray PTA is Wednesday, March 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room. Their will be an election of officers.

There will also be a gymnastics program put on by fifth and sixth graders.

Gene Hinton will show slides from the Outdoor Education trips.

The Valley Softball Association has announced that the Chevette contest has been extended until April 4.

A drawing will be held for prizes at that time.

Reason for this contest is to raise additional monies so the association can complete the installation of the soccer field.

New SR principal named

Mrs. Dorothy Trantina will be introduced as the principal for the new Greenbrook Elementary School now being constructed at a meeting scheduled for Monday night at the Education Center in Danville.

Mrs. Trantina is currently a reading specialist at Green Valley School. The new school, located on Highland Drive in San Ramon, is scheduled to be completed in August and will house kindergarten through sixth grade students.

Students from five other San Ramon Valley Unified School District schools will be assigned to the new school.

The meeting at the Education Center next Monday at 8 is open to parents who have questions concerning the new school and to establish a slate of officers for the parents group.

No barbed wire federal forts

Can Americans stand up to Big Brother? Is Washington our servant, or the all-powerful, merciless master?

We are about to get a Valley-eye view of that confrontation on a battle field no greater than a new post office, across a line no higher than an eight-foot fence, plus barbed-wire top.

Pleasanton is the scene. But it might just as well be Anywhere, U.S.A. The issue is much the same: "Can the Postal Service violate local ordinances and ignore community reaction by building a fence that is both illegal and obscene?"

The postal people say they need that fence because "we have to protect our trucks from vandals and thieves." No other business operation in the Valley has such dire concerns. No other new building is allowed such extreme measures.

If we all agreed that suburbia has come to such a state as to require massive fences topped with barbed wire in order to protect us, then we are in far worse shape than anyone dared imagine. And we suggest Congress meet immediately to divert millions now spent in "foreign aid" to be spent instead for protection of Americans from the enemy within.

But most Americans agree with President Ford and our fearless leaders when they tell us "things like "this is the land of the free" ... and "we have nothing to fear but fear itself."

Let them tell that to the postal people. Make them remove that insidious fence. This is America, not Nazi Germany.

This is our post office, located on a city street between a high school and a public park.

And here is that moment when Americans might test the mettle of democracy against the militarisim of bureaucracy. Tell Congressman Fortney Stark and all the others how you feel ... about barbed wire enclosures around the federal presence in our communities.

Mori's year

This week, Assemblyman Floyd Mori marked the completion of his first year in that new legislative field. It hardly seems possible that this soft-spoken college instructor has, in just 12 months, made such a mark for himself, and for his constituency.

While quickly affirming that we find perfection in few, if any, public servants, and offer no in-depth judgement on a man who has had so brief a public exposure, still we can report that Floyd Mori has thus far given us no reason to be unhappy with his servitude. We might almost hope that here is an honest politician, a sensitive bureaucrat, an enlightened legislator. Well, we'll wait a year or three before offering all those judgements.

But for now, those of us who have sden the man at work, gained his quick response, watched his steady progress, can all agree that Assemblyman Mori is a good representative, and a solid citizen.

We can all wish that he would continue on this same path, sticking to his principles, remembering the people first, the politics only when unavoidable.

Standing proud

I am a world traveler, visiting all countries and nations countless times. I have been present at meetings of the Department of State, peace conferences, and witnessed the agony of defeat in the eyes of our enemy. I have been presented at court, and royalty has bowed low in homage, and over two million people have pledged their play an important role in all patriotic societies. For our beloved American mothers, I have accompanied their brave sons on the battlefield, the sea, and in the air.

I am taller than the loftiest building. I have never bowed my head in shame or defeat — only in sorrow. I have attended countless parades, been saluted, carried, and caressed by the dear little hands of our American children.

I am neither lame nor crippled, but I never walk. I am always carried to my place of honor. I rise with the dawn in the east and keep flying until eventide when the sun goes down over the horizon in the west. I rest, but I never sleep.

I have had my face lifted many times, but never changed my colors. I am a silent mourner at the graveside, and I have a place in church. I am conceited, never taking second place, only on rare occasions when the church pennant flies above me.

My enemies have tried to destroy me. They tore me into shred, spat on me, trampled me in the dust, and I was even burned.

Then one day three great Americans and their unseen pilot, the God whom they believed in, picked me up and carried me thousands and thousands of miles away. They gave me a new home where I would be forever free to look down on my dear American children who gave me that nickname "Old Glory."

Today I am New Glory, and by the light of the silvery moon I am the FLAG of the United States of America.

A postcard pitch

It's time for an update on what some of our public employes are doing to get a little more funding out of Sacramento.

And also another mention on that potential colossus known as the EERB — Educational Employment Relations Board.

First, the good news ... I think!

The California Teachers Association last week revved - up its postcard campaign urging the Legislature and Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr. to support increased funds for the state's financially troubled public schools.

You remember Brown, he's the guy who went out into the cold to announce he has presidential aspirations.

While the teachers are chasing Brown via the postcard route, CTA president Stephen H. Edwards is back in Burlingame (the CTA state headquarters) thinking up additional gambits to get Brown back in out of the cold and hopefully into the same building as the Legislature.

Edwards' campaign, now well along, features a postcard jointly addressed to the Legislature and "the Guv" urging them to support SB 1382, a $1.5 billion school finance measure by Sen. Ralph C. Dills of Los Angeles.

Some of you may remember Sen. Dills ... but we won't dredge that up.

CTA's 150,000 members in 800 chapters throughout the state started signing cards and gathering signatures Monday, which the association calls "Make It Count For Kids Week." It is estimated nearly 200,000 signed postcard messages will be obtained throughout March.

Presumably, a representative number of these will come from the valley and windup on the desks of Assemblyman Floyd Mori and Sen. John Holmdahl.

During this week teachers will also be distributing "Kids Count," a community newsletter that discusses school finance problems. It will be distributed to parents and community leaders, also.

We believe Edwards and the CTA have the right idea ... now if it'll just sink in up there in Racramento.

***

The EERB is that friendly little trio appointed a couple of months ago by California's latest presidential candidate (or was it Pat that announced!).

The threesome will hold virtual carte blanche powers over negotiating disputes that cannot be resolved between school district administrations and teacher groups.

Fortunately, all three EERB members have solid experience in labor relations, and at least one labor organization, the California School Employees Association (CSEA), has indicated its unqualified support to all board members.

Which is an encouraging sign.

Now when the CTA, the American Federation of Teachers and Professional Educators Group make similar endorsements we'll rest a whole heck of a lot easier. But don't hold your breath.

In fact, don't even think about it because it's not going to happen.

Chairman of the trio is Reginald H. Alleyne, on leave from UCLA Law School faculty to write a book on collective bargaining. An attorney for the National Labor Relations Board from 1965-69, Alleyne holds an LL.B from Howard University in Washington, D.C., and an LL.M from Columbia.

The other two members are Ray Gonzales, former chairman of the Assembly Education Committee in 1973-74 and for the past year Director of the State Office of Educational Liaision in the Health and Welfare Agency.

Third member is Jerilou H. Cossack, who has been employed in the labor relations field since 1968. She joined the NLRB in 1969, and for the past two years has been supervising examiner for the NLRB's Region 31 in Los Angeles.

An impressive group on paper. Let's hope they are equally as impressive in their performance.

Letters to the Times

X-rated shows

Editor, The Times:

You recently published a letter from Mr. James F. Campbell to the Dublin Cinema. Mr. Campbell expressed his disappointment with the Cinema for showing an "X" rated movie and asked that it cease such practice. He ended his protest by asking, "Would Christ have shown these movies ... or attended them?"

I don't know what Christ did in His spare time, other then play bingo, but let me ask Mr. Campbell a Question. Would He have shown or attended "LaVerne and Shirley," "SWAT," "Kojak," "Bronk," "Another World," "The $20,000 Pyramid," "Cannon" or, perhaps worst of all, the evening TV news. These programs display all the worst of human behavior and beam it right into your living room. Murder, greed, agony, rape, blackmail, torture, insanity and adultery are all available at the flip of a switch, almost around the clock.

No, Mr. Campbell, what the Dublin Cinema exhibits does not concern me for a moment. That three foot high "X" they put on the marquee alerts me to what is playing on the inside. It allows me to choose whether to attend or not. That, after all, is the essance of democracy ... the freedom to choose. Not the freedom to censor.

Lloyd A. Walter
Dublin

Sound and Fury

Walt Hecox

Pete Stark, this valley's resident in Washington D.C., will be in Pleasanton talking to the local Democratic Club Thursday evening and this old man will be present with a question.

I'll be kinder to Pete than I was to the last speaker to address the Pleasanton Democratic Club.

Pete I believe to be a pretty good fellow over all. The same is not true of Tom Hayden.

As far as I am concerned Hayden forfeited his right to be a citizen of these United States in 1968 when he and his buddies raised so much hell at the Democratic Convention in Chicago they damned near wrecked the town.

Not that Chicago would take much wrecking. The midwestern metropolis is not one which appeals to me, but that is a personal point of view.

Pat Widder and Ray Gibson, both of them Times alumni, are in Chicago or its environs and tell me they like the windy city.

They are welcome to it as far as I am concerned.

Whatever the case Hayden and his buddies had no right to raising such a monumental ruckus there in '68.

We have some strange folks in politics these days. We don't need Hayden.

Up in Sausalito folks have elected themselves a lady mayor, one Sally Stanford, formerly the most notorius of San Francisco's madams and currently a wealthy Marin County businesswoman.

Sally is probably a pretty good mayor. A girl doesn't rise from abject poverty to millions without a head on her shoulders, however she acquired her loot.

I cannot say the same for another member of the Sausalito city council who flatly refuses to salute the flag.

That esteemed lassie should be shipped out on the first slow boat to China to leave the Sausalito slough which is better known as Richardson's Bay.

A man appreciates people like Stark when confronted with the likes of Hayden and that girl in Sausalito who sits on her hands during the flag salute.

All told, Pete seems to be a pretty good congressman. He keeps in touch with his constituency, works hard at his job and tries to do what he thinks is right.

We can't ask much more of an elected representative.

Right now I need a congressman with whom to chat. Income tax time is right around the corner and a year has passed since I last voiced a complaint against the abominable marriage tax.

I requested help from the Pope in Rome, the president of the United States of America, a couple of senators and Pete Stark.

If I am not mistaken a note from Pete told me he was trying to do something about the situation.

I am not sure because another note was brought more prominently to my attention. A Livermore lady addressed herself to the publisher of this fine newspaper, calling me a cry baby and pointing out I probably made too damned much money anyway.

I still get a little angry when I think about her letter. To begin with I don't make anywhere near as much as a journeyman plumber though I served a long apprenticeship learning my trade.

On top of that my income is my own business and not the lady's.

And an unfair tax is unfair regardless of who yells or how long.

Believe me I intend to yell about the marriage tax for a long time. Uncle Sam has put a premium on sin. Two can live as cheaply as one — as long as they don't get married. Let them legalize the arrangement and they will pay extra income taxes.

Skeeter and I pay four percent more income taxes than a single person in our income bracket

The tax hits everyone who is married. A husband and wife who earn $8,000 a year each pay an extra $200 in taxes for the privilege of having their union blessed by holy matrimony.

A couple earning $16,000 each pay an extra $1,252 for their conventional point of view.

The television program, 60 minutes, told a week ago of a couple who were divorced so they could avoid the marriage tax.

They were remarried the next day and paid for a second honeymoon with what they saved on taxes.

Other people are following suit. Uncle Sugar has apparently kicked honest matrimony right in the Sweet Post Toasties.

Thursday I intend to ask Pete why and what he is going to do about that damned tax.

round the town

My cup runneth over. My joy is boundless. Also, my headache has gone.

Michaeleen spoke to me yesterday! I mean, it was not just another of those parental orders ... "Say goodnight to old grandad." Or ... "Tell him thank you, Michaeleen." No sirree.

This was one of those extemporaneous speeches. Delivered as I was laboring to recall my talents as a builder of house-of-cards, under the watchful, silent eye of the young visitor from Australia. It was just when the blessed thing had fallen down, for the third time, and I leaned back to contemplate the worth of it all, when she said it.

"Build it again!" That's what she said. Or at least that's what I thought she said I'm not yet that well trained in interpreting the comments of 23-month-old Australians. For a while there, I thought I was also going to fail my first test at grandparenting. The babes and I simply were not hitting it off.

"Why is Michaeleen screaming?"

"I don't know ... she was just playing there quietly when HE came along and spoke to her and the next thing you know ...?

That's the way it was going. "HE" is the ogre. The old man with glasses, who runs around scaring the bejabbers out of young innocents from Down Under. It was a rather difficult week, let me tell you, that first seven days of our grand parentage.

Before they arrived, the lady of the house and I had discussed the potential problem of the babes and the Dachshund.

"Maybe we'll have to put the dog in the kennel," she said, foreseeing a great confrontation between 23-month-old Australian visitor and 14-year-old German dissident. I maintained that was unfair, given the fact that the German had homestead rights to our house.

"Maybe we should put the kid in the kennel," I suggested, with untimely humor. She never did forgive me for that one.

Now it's "HIM" that's the problem. Scaring hell out of the wee ones. I would hear them exchanging whispered comments in the kitchen. "Maybe we should consider a motel ..." Not for the Australian invader, you can bet. Which leaves only you-know-who, and oh, how I hate motels.

The problem had not been quite so intense betwixt me and the 8-month-old. Tuny Marie is of the live-and-let-live philosophy. She sits in my corner of the kitchen. At breakfast time we share a little chit chat, an occasional piece of toast. It was shaping up as a real romance. Then, as I have always done with them of the opposite sex, I overstepped my grounds.

"Why is Tuny Marie crying?"

"I don't know, she was playing quietly by herself when HE came along and picked her up ..."

Lesson Two on Grandparenting. Never, never pick up small babe without first being properly introduced, preferably by Daddy, who is the only man in her life, I now find out.

"Maybe the dog and I should both move into a kennel," I advised the lady of the house at the depths of my despair in Grandparenting.

"Oh, it's not all that bad," she replied, cheerily. "The dog and the babes are getting along beautifully."

I gather she was trying to tell me something. "If Dachshund and babes can find happiness in same house, then why not babes and funny old man in glasses?" It was a challenge I could not refuse.

The older one was the real test. I tried joining her at her early evening tea party. "No! MEAN!!" she declared. I was informed that "Mean is her word for 'Michaeleen,' and it's her cute little way of saying 'It's mine.'" Cute or not, I got the message. Scratch the tea party.

I introduced her to the three-wheel-trike, borrowed from the football player next door. Big success. Then I tried to give rider and bike a small push.

"Why is Michaeleen screaming like that?" I was sent back to the lab, for further training.

Then I discovered the deck of cards. Don't know why I never thought about it before. Memories of my own father (HE also wore glasses, smelled of cigarettes and English Stout, and scared hell out of me, as I recollect) winning me over with a great house built from playing cards filled my memory passages. If it worked for me (I was a terribly precocious child) then it might just work for that Australian terror. It was worth trying, short of being shipped off to the grandparental kennels.

The rest, as Alexander Graham Bell would say, is history. We built the house. We knocked it down. And she said the words that will live forevermore ...

"Build it again!" And then she smiled.

I tell you, there is no joy like grandparenting, once you learn your proper place.

Penny ante BART

Open letter to Bob Allen,
Valley BART Director,

Why don't you quit playing penny-ante politics over director expense accounts and concern yourself with improving valley BART service? Routinely, the extension bus drivers leave the Bay Fair station, sometimes several minutes ahead of the published schedule time, while riders are getting off the train or are racing to catch the bus as it pulls out of the station. This problem only occurs when the BART trains are malfunctioning and running behind schedule, which is much of the time. Because of the poor scheduling (UL buses run only at half hour intervals), this lengthens an already long commute of 1½ hours plus from San Francisco to Livermore, to two hours. I see no reason why Bay Fair station clerks cannot hold up the extension buses for 5 or 10 minutes when they know the BART trains are malfunctioning.

At least one rider has discussed this with you, and his opinion is that you don't give a damn. If this is the case, and if you are more interested in furthering personal political ambitions, I think we need a new director — soon.

For Wednesday, March 17, 1976

ARIES (March 32-April 19) Many pitfalls could await you if you're not careful when involved in important negotiations today. Do nothing hastily.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do everything in moderation today. Don't overdo it, whether working, playing, socializing, eating or drinking.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you're approached with a speculative proposition, tell the person to come back tomorrow. Today you're apt to be taken in by the frosting on the cake.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Pride may prompt you to promise something beyond your ability to deliver today. Being realistic will save embarrassment later.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You may be tempted to embellish facts today to make a better story. Stick to your straightforward manner. Others can sense a put-on.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be cautious in shopping or bargaining today. You're not as sharp as usual. You could save pennies, squander dollars.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's wise to view a problem from all angles. Today you could become obsessed with so many alternatives you could fail to grasp the solution.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't prejudge situations today. You have a tendency to see things as you'd like them to be, when it's advantageous to recognize them as they are.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You could become so totally immersed in the activities of others today that things you really want to do will go by the boards.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It's a day when you can depend only on No. 1. Delegating jobs probably will not work out.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Define clearly the price and desired results of any service you're paying for out-of-pocket today.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't let anyone assume control of your resources today just because you don't want to fuss with details. It's a luxury you can't afford.

Opening lead — Q ♥

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The last thing South wanted to do was to get to seven diamonds, but his partner's five notrump was the grand slam force. This tells South to bid seven if he holds two of the three top honors in diamonds.

South looked at the queen of hearts lead for some time. His first thought was to discard a spade from dummy and settle for down one. Then he thought some more, whistled "With a little bit of luck" and proceeded to make his contract.

More than a little luck was needed. He had to ruff three hearts in dummy. Those three ruffs plus his own four trumps, five clubs and one spade counted to 13 tricks.

South ruffed that first heart, led a low club from dummy and finessed his nine spot. One bit of luck. He ruffed a second heart, returned to his hand with the queen of clubs. No one ruffed in. Second bit of luck. Then he ruffed a third heart with the queen of trumps, led dummy's last trump, finessed his 10 spot. Third bit of luck. Pulled trumps. They broke 3-2 and he had his 13 tricks.

Ask the Jacobys

An Alaska reader asks what we mean when we say that a contract is a good one?

A game or small slam contract is said to be a good one any time there is an even chance to make it based on the cards held by declarer and dummy.

Shutup and play ball

Mike Zampa

There's one inherent quality to beep baseball that makes it a superior comodity to it's more traditional predecessor.

Beep baseball, as you should detect from the designation, is played by sound. Which means there is no place for extraneous noise.

It's written right into the rules that spectators and other players remain silent when a play is on. Afterwards, you can scream like a banshee.

But when a blind youngster is attempting to track down a softball by the intermittent squeals eminating from within, he's got to be able to hear it.

So it's the nature of the game that most of it is played in peace and quiet.

There's a notion that should appeal to a lot of baseball folks. Little leaguers could boost their averages 50 points hitting against a backdrop of silence. Umpires might keep their hair years longer if they didn't have to endure a cacophony of barking from fans whose intelligence level is no where near their volume level.

A lot of feelings could be spared. Focus might be turned back to the kids playing the game instead of the brawl in section FF.

This is probably beep baseball's shining achievement in four years of existence — putting the kids on center stage — out by themselves where there are no adults to muddle things up.

Beep baseball was invented four years ago by a Colorado Springs phone company employee, Charles Fairbanks. He developed the softball that contains the inner-workings of a telephone receiver and beeps like a toy piano when struck.

A set of exotic rules grew up around the ball, allowing totally blind folks to hit, throw and catch.

The first beep baseball game in the Bay Area was played in 1972 at Golden Gate Park. Since then more than a dozen teams have been formed in Northern California. Beep baseball has a commissioner, playoffs, even a World Series.

It also has a standing clause that meddlesome adults remain on the sidelines. They're kept around for safety sake. But field officials (there are four in beep baseball) are all youngsters. Surprisingly the procedure works well. The kids haven't learned to crab and complain, and they're happy to play a game that seemed impossible just five years ago.

"The kids love it," says Ed Strobridge of Pleasanton. "They want to go out and play every chance they get."

Strobridge is working with the Dublin Lions Club to found a beeper team here. Five youngsters are signed up already, including Strobridge's 20-year-old son Dennis.

"I get nothing but bugging from him to play baseball," says Strobridge. "Most other kids have the same reaction to the game."

The Lions' ultimate goal is to field a four-team league of youngsters from a region bounded by Livermore, Pleasanton, Castro Valley and Walnut Creek. It would require 36 players. Until then, the Dublin team can play clubs from San Francisco, Concord, Sacramento, Fresno and other Northern California cities.

Anyone can play for the Lions' team, regardless of age or sex. The game is restricted to people declared blind by current statutes.

Already in the fold for Strobridge's team are David Krill, 19, Orlando Rocha, 16, and Darreo Rocha, 11, of Pleasanton, and Walnut Creek's Phillip Molen, 22.

All have played beep baseball at least once. All are eager to play again.

The Lions are installing special equipment for their team at the Kodak Little League field in Dublin. Cost for a whole team will run into the hundreds of dollars.

The beep balls cost $20 each. Their mechanical hearts are torn from obsolete telephone units. The leather surface is supplied by Wilson Sporting Goods. The finished product is provided by inmates at California Medical Facility, Vacaville.

Seven bases are required for a beeper game. They are red cones used by street crews. Each is equipped with another beeper that emits a steady tone. One base beep is triggered each time a batter hits a pitch. The set of bases costs $92. It's more for a central control box which connects to every buzzer.

The game is played on a cone shaped field. The batter stands at the tip of the cone. Seven fielders are deployed in numbered outfields. One of the officials pitches the beep ball to the batter.

If he hits to one of the outfield positions, another official shouts out which area the ball has reached. The fielder runs down the beeping ball.

Meanwhile the batter listens for a beep from one of seven bases layed out in a circle behind him. An official triggers one at random. If the batter touches base before the fielder retrieves the ball, it's a run for his team. If the fielder is quickest, it's an out.

Each batter gets 10 pitches to hit, each team four outs to a side.

The game is safe, Strobridge says. It hasn't experienced a serious injury in its four year existence. There are the normal bumps and scrapes, but if a kid's playing ball, he's going to get nicked.

Besides, blind people are skydiving and hang gliding these days, there's no reason they can't play baseball.

If anyone is interested in playing, they can call Strobridge at 846-6103, or attend a practice at the Kodak Fields, Sunday afternoons, 2 p.m.

Nazarene sweeps to easy victory

Nazarene Church continued to roll in Livermore Recreation Basketball Monday night, swamping LLL No. 1, 73-61.

Mark Lehman again led the Nazarene attack with 20 points, 16 in the first half Chuck Boswell scored 15 points for the Church and Dan Bowers added 12.

LLL's Steve Mayo was the high scorer with 21 points. Teammate Doug Crippen added 14 points, and Mike Norell had 12.

Don's belted the Dry Heaves, 63-47. Steve Briggs' 25 points sparked the winners. Terry Cavin followed with 10 points, and Mick Gardner added eight. Mike Benapfl had 14 points for the losers, John Laney, 13, and Jerry Dow, 10.

Huskies edge Dons

Rob Wicks continues to pitch well without reward.

Amador Valley High's junior righthander worked three consecutive losing games last season in which he gave up a total of zero earned runs.

He produced the same totals yesterday, with an agonizingly familiar result, a 5-4 loss to Washington in non-league baseball.

Wicks entered the game for the Dons in the top of the fourth inning. He was presented a one-run lead.

Four innings and just three base hits later, he'd lost another game he didn't deserve to lose. Once again Wicks failed to yield an earned run. But three Washington base hits, plus two Amador errors produced two runs in the fifth inning and recalled old nightmares for Amador's pitcher.

Wicks struck out two of the Huskies and walked only one in displaying his characteristic good control. Two of the three singles he allowed were punched weakly to the opposite field. Another was stroked up the middle of the diamond.

But Wicks' Amador teammates threw away one ball on the infield, and misfired attempting to prevent a stolen base in the fifth inning. That proved the difference.

That and the relief work of Washington's Tom Garcia, who followed starter Toby Andrews with three scoreless, hitless innings against Amador. Garcia struck out four Dons and walked two.

One of the free passes went to Mark Bevilacqua with one out in the seventh inning, raising the possibility of a tie game. Bevilacqua stole second for Amador, but died there as Garcia struck nut one man, then retired the next on a lazy fly ball.

Andrews worked the first four innings and gave up all four Amador hits, and the four runs.

Mike Garrigan, a hard throwing lefthander, pitched three innings for Amador and got better as the game progressed.

Garrigan was rattled for four hits and three runs in the first inning. The big blow was Dan Finklea's two-out single that drove in two of the scores. Finklea finished the game with three hits for Washington.

After the first inning, Garrigan settled down for the Dons. He gave up just two hits in his final two innings, and struck out two.

His finest performance, however was at the plate.

In Amador's big three - run third inning, Garrigan lashed a two-run double up the alley in left centerfield. That followed a double by Jeff Terry who knocked in the other run.

Washington contributed to the Dons' assault with three errors in the third inning. The Huskies atoned partially, however, by picking one runner off first base.

Amador scored a single run in the first inning after Bevilacqua forced a runner at second base, and motored to third on Dan Straface's hit-and-run single. Mike Johnson came up for Amador and chased home Bevilacqua with a bouncer on the infield.

Wicks came on in the fourth inning leading 4-3, and he retired the Huskies in order.

In the fifth inning he started well by striking out Bob DeRenzi. Then Bob Fudenna singled meekly into right field. He stole second and the problems quickly mounted. Roeber bounced a ball to shortstop that was fielded by Johnson. He attempted to catch Fudenna running to third base, but hit the runner with the throw.

Roeber, who reached first base on the miscue, then stole second. Fudenna scored when catcher Bevilacqua's throw skipped past the bag. Roeber came around to score on a base hit by Dan Finklea.

Bevilacqua had a good day behind the plate for Amador, if you ignore the fifth inning transgression.He cut down three Washington runners attempting to steal second base. — Mike Zampa

DUBLIN SWIMMER READIES FOR LEAGUE RACE
Victor Hinjosa one of Gaels' top swimmers.

Matadors, Dons favored as swimming season begins

A closer, more balanced race is predicted when the EBAL swimming season begins today with four meets.

Defending champion Granada travels to Dublin, Amador meets host San Ramon, California is at Livermore and Foothill hosts Monte Vista. All meets start at 3:15 p.m.

Granada is picked to battle with Amador for the league crown again. The Dons finished second last season to the Matadors and have a strong group of juniors back this year.

However, Granada is paced by returning All-American Chris Hoenig, who swam the freestyle and individual medley last season.

"Hoenig is extremely versatile," admitted Granada mentor Gus DeGara yesterday. "He's probably the best in the area because of his versatility."

Other top swimmers for the Matadors include Dan Eckert and Craig Harris. Harris, a junior, was an outstanding swimmer on the frosh-soph team last season.

DeGara thinks Amador is the biggest threat to the Matadors' title chances.

"I've heard a lot of good things about Amador," he said. "Most of the other teams in the league will be improved too. However, I think the Dons have the most depth."

Amador coach Chuck Volonte feels it's too early in the season to pick the favorities but admits his club's meet with San Ramon should be a good one.

"They have some good individuals," he admitted. "It should be a fairly competitive meet."

Amador is not without stars of its own. Junior Brian Story won the 200 individual medley and the 100-yard breaststroke as the Dons ripped Tennyson of Hayward last Friday.

Amador also has some fine divers, according to Volonte.

Ex-wrestler Dave Potts, a senior, leads the Don divers. Paul Morton is also a outstanding performer for the Dons. He won the 100-yard flystroke against Tennyson with a 1:02 9 clocking. He is also a member of the Don 200 medley relay squad as is Story.

Amador is particularly strong in both relays and this could prove crucial in the league season ahead.

Granada nine wins again

Granada's varsity baseball team brought its Steve Stone - Scott Trudeau road show to Livermore for the first time yesterday.

Trudeau knocked in the winning run with a single in the bottom of the seventh inning while Stone pitched three scoreless innings as the Matadors nipped Kennedy of Fremont, 4-3.

Besides delivering the clutch hit, Trudeau smacked a two-run homer and added another single while driving in three runs.

Stone pitched the last three innings in relief of starter Tim Duke. Working out of a bases-loaded jam in the fifth inning, Stone settled down to fan five batters to pick up the victory and keep the Mats' pre-season record unblemished. The Titans struck first, taking advantage of Dukes' wildness, to score two runs in the first inning. After a leadoff walk by Jurasin and a single by Len Roman and Rick Lewis Duke walked Mike Fretas to force in a run. After strking out Jim Howard Duke walked Randy Ready.

Roman scored when Granada's Bill Jesperson threw the ball in the dirt at the plate, after an attempted squeeze by Kennedy failed.

Granada came back in the second inning, with a walk to Vance Rushing, and Trudeau's home run, tieing the score at 2-2.

Singles by Don Smith, Jesperson and Stone netted Granada's third run of the inning.

The Titans tied the score again in the fourth inning without getting a hit. Jurasin was hit by a pitch, Roman got to first on a fielders' choice, went to second on a walk to Lewis and scored when Dukes' throw to first went off the glove of Trudeau.

SR edges American

San Ramon High unleashed a 10-hit attack to top American High School, 6-2 yesterday in a non - league baseball game.

Rick Hanson led the winners with three hits and two RBI's. Ed Aitken also had two hits and collected one RBI. The losers had seven hits, led by Larry Lamar with two. American also made two crucial errors.

Driver slates Soviet trip

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A driver paralyzed in an accident at the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race in 1968 says he will go to the Soviet Union for medical treatment.

Bob Hurt is confined to a wheelchair and has been in and out of hospitals for the past eight years. He said he will travel to Leningrad on a medical visa and expects to remain there five months.

Hurt said he's going to the Soviet Union because he's learned of special surgery being done by a Russian medical team. He's been trying to obtain the treatment for the past two years, he said.

Gangnuss breaks record, but Dublin falls, 96-49

Dublin High School lost a 96-49 decision to Mt. Diablo in a non - league track meet yesterday but the Gaels' Chuck Gangnuss was the man of the hour.

Gangnuss set a school record in the 330 low hurdles with a brillant 39.2 clocking in winning that event and also took the 120 highs in 15.5.

However, Mt. Diablo's depth proved to be the turning point as the Red Devils swept four events en route to the easy victory.

However, the Gaels still gave a good account of themselves. Jon Batchelor won the 100 in 10.3 then came back to take the 220 in 23.6. He also ran a strong leg on the winning 440-yard relay team which recorded a swift 44.5 clocking.

The Dublin junior varsity also fell. There was no girls' meet.

Pistol shooters have day

Charlie Litz

BILL CALDWELL and Roger Matuska announce that a Running Deer Competition will be held at the local Livermore - Pleasanton Rod and Gun Club March 21.

Carl Ehre and his Iron Chickens will also be on hand. Pistol shooters will have something to compete with. So come on out and bring your shooting buddy, too. Don't forget your ammo! Starting time is 10 a.m. See you out there.

THE QUESTION of clamming in San Francisco Bay and freshwater clams in state and federal aqueducts has been asked by several clam lovers, and here is the answer from the Department of Fish and Game (DFG) which was just sent me.

Emil J. Smith, Jr. Senior Marine Biologist, states that at the present time San Francisco Bay is quarantined by the State Department of Health for the harvest of clams for human consumption. The reason for the quarantine is that clams in many areas harbor human fecal coloform bacteria and viruses from sewage that will cause illness to persons eating the clams.

In other areas, clams may contain heavy metal residues that exceed standards set by the U.S. Public Health Service, Smith reports.

Newly constructed sewage treatment plants located in many parts of the Bay are noticeably improving the water quality. It is a stated objective of Bay Region Quality Control Board that they will continue to clean up waste water discharges entering the Bay so the abundant shellfish resources found there can be utilized once again.

The freshwater clams found in the Delta Mendota Canal and the California Aqueduct, Corbicula manilensis, is highly esteemed in the Orient and in Asiatic communities in California. Relatively high fecal coloform bacteria levels have been detected in clams obtained from near the head of the Delta Mendota Canal in the fall, but contamination levels from other parts of the canal or from the California Aqueduct are not known.

Bacteria should pose no serious problem, however, if clams are purged before being eaten, says Smith. As the clams normally feed on diatoms that have a high silica content, the eating quality of the clams is improved by holding them in clean water for four days. During this period the water should be changed daily. The flavor of these clams is good, although milder than saltwater varieties. Corbicula clams, because of their small size, are best utilized whole in chowder, much the same as littleneck clams.

A telephone call to Lt. Maceda of DFG reveals his thoughts on the matter are to "Please read the current 1976 Fishing Regulations. They explain the methods that may be used to take clams." He refers to Section 9050 of the Fishing Regulations, which is too long to reproduce here.

IT IS NO steel - and - chrome monster which — the Highway Patrol notwithstanding — can foul the air at speeds up to 120 miles an hour, but it wears an identification sticker much like those on automobile license plates.

This armor - plated vehicle, which cruises at one-quarter mile an hour, is a nonpolluting desert tortoise. Since 1973, possession of these tortoises has been prohibited in California. However, if you acquired one before 1973 you may apply to keep it under a special permit from the DFG.

Since the permit system went into operation less than two years ago, 4400 tags have been issued. And there has also been an apparent reproduction success in captivity. "We hear of people with so many tortoises they don't know what to do with them." And, it takes permission to give them away!

So if you have a pet tortoise, don't forget to get its identification sticker.

EBAL appoints 'conduct' panel

The EBAL is going to investigate outrageous behavior at sports events by fans, players and coaches and come up with some controls by the end of this school year.

Spurred by a winter of discontent on the basketball courts, EBAL directors chose a three - man panel at their meeting yesterday to tackle the problems of sportsmanship and crowd control.

They'll study a list of proposals forwarded by athletic directors from the eight - member schools, and perhaps incorporate them in a comprehensive report expected in June.

The study received unanimous approval from the principals of each school.

Yesterday's action was the result of complaints in the community and the press over conduct of folks who play or attend sports events.

EBAL basketball, both boys and girls, was embroiled in a number of controversies this past season involving behavior.

A grade school teacher would have flunked a lot of players, coaches and fans in the area of citizenship. Runaway scores, acid commentary from parents and student rooters and a courtside embroglio that involved everyone but the National Guard dotted the flow of play.

The trend moved Monte Vista High School principal Sam Zackheim to request a study of sportsmanship more than a month ago.

Yesterday, EBAL athletic directors came to the board armed with suggestions for crowd control.

Among them were: — A coaches' code of ethics.

— Assignment of faculty members to all home and away games.

— Meeting with student body and cheering section leaders.

— Meetings with coaches and "problem parents."

— Broadening of officials' powers to control crowds and teams.

Paul Reginato, principal of Livermore High, and Dublin's Bob Hagler will join Zackheim on the committee to ponder these and other proposals.

Meanwhile in other action yesterday, the board of governors appeared ready to give the unofficial All-EBAL girls basketball team its stamp of approval.

Granada athletic director Hal Sinclair said he'd just received a report on the selections, and would present it for confirmation next month.

League coaches selected an all-star team in February without EBAL sanction.

League managers also endorsed proposed pay hikes for football, basketball and baseball officials, but stopped short of granting the increases.

The three groups of referees are requesting pay boosts that would cost each EBAL school about $200 per year. It would be the first raise for the officials in five seasons.

The league appeared ready to grant the raises, but withheld final approval over a technicality.

The EBAL has worked unofficially at salary time with two other Contra Costa County athletic leagues served by the same officials. They are the Foothill Athletic League and the Diablo Valley Athletic League.

Ostensibly, the three organizations attempt to negotiate on the same terms with referee associations.

In the current case, the EBAL is ready and willing to grant pay increases. But the DVAL is confronting a severe budget crisis and may not be able to go along. In fact there is talk of abandoning sports in that league.

So the EBAL voted to hold off pay hike approval until the DVAL works out its financial miseries.

Errors hurt Gaels, 3-1

Pre - season baseball games are played bascially to get a team in shape for the regular season. Errors are expected as part of the game.

So it should not come as too much of a surprise that errors and erratic base running played a large part in Dublin High's 3-1 loss to visiting Fremont of Oakland yesterday afternoon.

Several Dublin base runners were caught off base trying to steal and those mishaps came back to haunt the Gaels.

Still, the lose had some bright points for Dublin. Pitcher Allan Schaut only allowed two hits in five innings of pitching for the Gaels after he relieved starter Robin Sherwood at the start of the third. Schaut struck out five batters and walked none in his stint.

Fremont got off to a fast start in the contest, scoring their runs in the first and second innings.

The Tigers got on the scoreboard in the initial inning when right fielder Willie Martin tripled and came in on a sacrifice. Fremont added their other runs in the second stanza on two singles and a roaring triple to center field. Sherwood struck out two batters and walked none in his two innings on the mound.

Dublin scored its only run in the fifth inning. Mike Laudenbach blasted a triple to score Jeff Mulsow who had gained a walk. Shawn May added a single to two straight ground outs ended the inning.

Dublin is now 0-2 for the non-league season.

Chisox, Cards in bid

The Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Cardinals entered the public bidding for pitcher Andy Messersmith Tuesday, joining the Atlanta Braves in an auction that could rival last winter's Catfish Hunter sweepstakes.

Both the White Sox and Cardinals contacted Messersmith's agent, Herb Osmond, by phone from Florida. The Braves, meanwhile, had their new owner, Ted Turner, on the scene in Newport Beach, Calif., ready to begin the bidding in person.

The San Diego Padres said Tuesday they also plan to get in on the bidding.

Cal, Liberty draw, 7-7

California High School's baseball team now has one of each. After a loss and a win in its first two varsity games, Cal battled to a 7-7 tie after three hours of non - league baseball against host Liberty yesterday.

At the outset of the game a tie would have looked like heaven to the Grizzlies, who fell behind, 5-0, after four innings.

But a six-run burst in the penultimate inning pushed Cal into the lead briefly. The rally featured Cal's first three extra base hits in its brief history of varsity play.

Brett Cary started the rally with a triple, brother Chuck added a double and Mike Daugherty blasted a home run.

A run by Roger Hurlow, who beat out a bunt to get aboard and then stole second, gave Cal another short - lived lead in the seventh.

But, a triple by Tony Beruman and a wild pitch forced the draw.

Balance aids MV victory

The pre-league season of Monte Vista has taken an even better perspective as witness yesterday afternoon in Danville as the Mustangs recorded their third straight win, topping Del Valle, 3-0 in prep baseball.

Most important, coach George Cockerton's team is playing splendid ball. In addition, Monte Vista is receiving all-around club contributions. And above all, Cockerton has inserted youth coupled with needed experience into his scoreboard.

In review the Mustangs, who are so evenly balanced, have held the opposition to a merger two tallies in 21 innings. The opponents are 6 for 70, againsts MV's 12 for 79, and 14 runs.

Meanwhile, Greg Goodman, one of the best pitchers in the East Bay — in only 11 innings has surrendered five hits, struck out 21 batters and allowed one earned run. Goodman is 2-0 on the season.

Once again, Monte Vista had little offense in its win over Del Valle. For three innings, however, this was a relatively close affair, between Del Valle's starter Mike Rohrer and Darryl Jardin. Both are right-handers.

Rohrer, who constantly threw strikes, unfortunately saw one pitch settled the match. In the fourth, with one gone and two on, Goodman came to bat and lofted the ball to shallow right field, plating Mark Silva with the ultimate run.

"We didn't look good at bat today at all," noted Cockerton. "It's only a practice game. We started kids today who never played before.

"Right now we're trying to find out who can play where and who can hit."

Patriots breeze, 5-1

Gina Thomas' two-goal outburst lifted the Pleasanton Patriots to a 5-1 win over Pleasanton United in Al Caffodio Soccer last weekend.

Tami Watson, Kim Iverson and Kelly McCole all scored single goals for the winners. Darsie Hill had one assist.

Chris Brittain and Janet Martin were instrumental in the triumph.

Pleasanton United under-14 crushed the Livermore Firecrackers, 4-1, as Lisa Thomas and Debbie Stromer scored two goals apiece. Ann Peterson earned one assist. Kristi Crow, Laurie Flemming and Julie Bigger were key players.

The Dublin Shelleilaghs edged Pleasanton United under-12, 2-1, on goals by Christy Carrere and Judi Derry. Sean Sloan had an assist. Caron Brillon recorded 16 saves in goal. Una Lucey, Heidi Morgan and Christi Russell played well.

A Cindy Hargis goal sparked Pleasanton United to a 1-0 win over Dublin.

Pleasanton United tripped the CAL Hurricanes in an exhibition match, 2-1. Kim Fruzetti and Ann Peterson scored goals. Goalkeeper Marie Pompilio had seven saves.

Sandy Wolverton's defense, aided by Jody Catala and Kathy Williams, earned the San Ramon Superiors a 2-0 win over the Livermore Rockets. Peggy Baker and P.J. Moore scored. Jan Jenkins had one assist.

In a rematch, the Superiors nudged the Rockets, 2-1. Baker and Kathy Buckowatz scored. Cindy Miller had an assist.

Chabot holds tourney

Chabot College will stage a wrestling exhibition with the Western Japan Collegiate All-Star team this evening beginning at 7:30 on the Hayward campus.

A quality list of current and former Gladiator wrestlers has been compiled to face the rugged Japanese, led by coach and national champion Takayasu Suganuma.

Among the Chabot veterans on hand will be former junior college All - American and Pac-8 champion Brent Jacinto, one-time state J.C. champion John Needham.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My wife insists she knows some women who have beat up their husbands during a heated argument.

I can understand a woman emerging victorious in a tennis match or a golf game — or even being a better bowler or skier than her husband, but the thought that a man would marry a woman who could physically overpower him is utterly inconceivable to me. I don't believe it is possible. Do you? — Keystone L

Dear K.: Of course it's possible. At this very moment I'm sure somewhere in the world several wives are beating up their husbands.

Many women are in much better physical condition than their mates. They can pack a mean wallop and are faster on their feet. That's all it takes, Mister.

***

Dear Ann Landers: Here's a problem I've never seen in your column. It is driving several families in our neighborhood crazy — especially mine.

There's this woman who lives down the block who insists on walking her dog all over our lawns at night. What the dog does is bad enough, but we could live with that.

Our major complaint is that she walks very close to our windows. It is terribly upsetting to see a pair of eyes peering at you from the outside when you turn on the bathroom light.

I have written three notes to this creepy character and several neighbors have written also. No response of any kind.

A few people have even gone to her home and told her to cut it out. She has ignored their pleas.

We phoned the police but they say they can't do anything unless they catch her and they are too busy to tail her. Any suggestions? — Sick Of Peeping Mary

Dear Sick Of P.M.: Any lawyer will tell you that Mary is trespassing on private property. Looking into windows is an additional offense. Both are clearly against the law. Phone an attorney and he will advise you.

Lamont's sentence 5 to life

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — William Lamont, the 49-year-old former furniture salesman who last month pleaded guilty to the murder of his estranged Livermore wife, was sentenced to five years to life imprisonment Monday.

Superior Court Judge Hugh S. Koford said after passing sentence that the second degree murder charge generally garners terms of up to seven years in prison.

In admitting he committed the murder with a gun — Helen Ferrell Lamont was killed with a single blast to the head from a 12-guage shotgun — Lamont faces an additional year or two confinement.

The 36-year-old Lawrence Livermore Laboratory secretary was found by her two children early on the morning of Aug. 13 in their 5222 Norma Way home near the Lab. Her husband was picked up the following morning outside Winnemucca, Nev., carrying a loaded 12-guage shotgun.

He was arrested without incident and transported back to the valley.

After pleading not guilty since his arraignment, he suddenly changed his plea last month when Judge Koford ruled the shotgun admissible evidence.

He will be taken to the California Medical Facility at Vacaville before assignment to a prison.

Hotline advises parents

"Assertiveness Training Plus" is Hotline's free communications program for parents, and it offers parents a way to learn to say "no" appropriately, firmly, and without becoming aggressive.

A new series of assertiveness training classes will start next week.

Parents of students in Livermore, Pleasanton and Dublin may attend any series at any location. No registration is necessary.

The training groups meet in two - hour sessions once a week for six weeks.

Sets of series will begin in March and again in May at the following times and places:

MONDAY: First series March 22 through April 26; second series May 3 through June 7; 1 to 3 p.m., Shannon Center, 11600 Shannon Ave., Dublin.

TUESDAY: First series March 23 through April 27; second series May 4 through June 8; 9 to 11 a.m. at Franklin Savings and Loan, 561 Main St., Pleasanton; and 7 to p.m. at Livermore Park and Recreation building, 71 Trevarno Rd., Livermore.

THURSDAY: First series March 25 through April 29; second series May 6 through June 10; 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Parkway Baptist Church, 7485 Village Pkwy., Dublin. Note change of location.

The training is based on the idea that parents who are calmly and assertively able to set realistic goals and limits for themselves project self respect and are more self - actualizing.

For further information call Hotline Drug Education Coordinator Dorris Fagan at 443-2894, or the Hotline office, 462-5544.

EasterSeal campaign to start

The 1976 Easter Seal Campaign is underway with the mailing of millions of envelopes nationwide containing Easter Seals. The proceeds from the campaign will provide funds to benefit thousands of handicapped children and adults.

In Contra Costa County some 180,000 households will receive the Easter Seal envelope, according to Monte Moore, the "voice" of the Oakland A's, who is the Contra Costa County chairman for the Eastdr Seal campaign for the second year.

"It is because of the tremendous work Easter Seals does to benefit so many handicapped persons from all walks of life that I am pleased to serve as the Contra Costa chairman again," Moore said. He will be joining Easter Seal volunteers throughout the county to raise funds to carry on the work of the Society in Contra Costa County.

The national chairman for the annual campaign for 1976 is Wayne Rogers, one of the stars of television's M A S H, and host of the nationwide Easter Seal Telethon which will be held on March 27 and 28. It will be viewed in this area on Channels 2 and 3, and will have a long list of stars taking part.

Volunteers, over the age of 20, are needed to help at the Telethon Centers. If interested, call 939-7353 for further information.

Monte Moore urged Contra Costa residents to keep and use the Easter Seals which arrive at their homes.

Stitchery specialist

Groundbreaking ceremonies were recently held to announce plans for Sunset Designs' new 72,000 square foot office and manufacturing facility at Alcosta Boulevard and Crow Canyon Road in San Ramon. Sunset Designs is a five-year-old Concord firm specializing in producing stitchery and needlepoint kits. From small beginnings in a Concord garage, the firm's new plant on a 13-acre site will double its present size, with adjacent land available for future expansion. Shown above are General Contractor Al Geggatt, Sunset Designs President Tom Cundith, Vice President Van Van Auken, and Architect Steve Wintner.

Rec vehicles size limit set

LIVERMORE — Recreational vehicles allowed into the Livermore Area Recreation and Park District's (LARPD) Camp Shelly at Lake Tahoe will be limited in size to 22 feet long and 10 1/2 feet high under a new policy recently adopted by the LARPD board of directors.

Under the old policy, recreational vehicles were limited to 21 feet in length and there were no restrictions on oeight. The new policy gives campers an additional foot in the length of their RV's but puts a limit on the height.

According to the policy adopted by the board, "limited width and height of entry road and limited parking restrict the use of larger units " There aloso was talk at the LARPD meeting of the higher vehicles destroying the trees at Camp Shelly although that concern was not reflected in the official policy.

The size restrictions apply to single unit campers and travel trailers towed behind either passenger cars or pickups.

Tent camping also is allowed at Camp Shelly.

The policy also advises large vehicle owners that because of the limited space available to them reservations will be on a first come, first served basis.

Tent and recreational vehicles camping reservations alike may be made with LARPD starting May 1 for Camp Shelly, which will be open from June 12 through September 7.

Speech clinic scheduled at Sonoma

LIVERMORE — Dr. Paul J. Melmed of the Children's Clinic for Speech, Language, Reading and Learning Disabilities in Lafayette, will be telling parents and teachers about learning disabilities Thursday night.

"Identifying Visible Signs of Learning Disabilities" is the title of his talk, scheduled for 8 p.m. at Sonoma School, 543 Sonoma Ave. (off El Caminito) in the multi-purpose room.

Co-sponsors are the Sonoma PTA, Sonoma Avenue School, Title I committee and the Special Education Department of the school district.

Raiders play in Dublin tonight

DUBLIN — The Oakland Raiders will be in town Wednesday night!

They'll be playing Romley's All-Stars — employes of Romley's stores, aided by two Dublin High basketball coaches.

The teams will compete at Dublin High to benefit the DHS junior class. Preliminaries (Wells Intermediate vs. Nielsen) will be at 7 p.m., followed by the professional game.

Raiders who will play will include Ken Stabler, Ray Guy and Bob Moore.

Admission is $1.50 for adults, a dollar for students.

Announcing Pacific Telephone's new recorded message.

And how to avoid hearing it.

Starting soon, when you call Directory Assistance, instead of talking immediately to an Operator, you'll be greeted by a short recording.

It'll take roughly fifteen seconds to remind you that the best way to find phone numbers is to look them up in your phone book.

We're hoping that people—especially those 12% of our customers who make more than half of all Directory Assistance calls—will choose to avoid the recording altogether and use that fifteen seconds to find the number for themselves.

If enough of them do, it'll help cut our unnecessary Directory Assistance costs. And when our costs stay down, so do yours.

Of course, if you can't find the telephone number you need, or it's not in your local directory, we're here to help. So just stay on the line after the recording ends and a Directory Assistance Operator will answer.

Remember, the phone book is the cheapest way to find numbers. And it's the fastest way, too.

So please, skip the recording. Use the book.
